

The Society preserves, for future generations, the records that make up the history of the Wanaka and Upper Clutha area. These records include photographs, diaries, minute books, station records, maps, newspaper clippings, family histories, Upper Clutha Pioneer Family Register and cemetery records. These are all held in a specially built fireproof room at the Wanaka Library. Records can be accessed by contacting the Society. The records are commonly used for tracing family histories, by societies and organisations for anniversaries, for photos and for research for books.
